Art Unit 125

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103 which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) and (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.

Claims 1-45, 56-63 and 65-114 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over the references of Phillipps et al. (1 and 2) and Edwards in combination with Sarrett et al. for reasons already of record in the previous Office action. The designated allowability of claims 7 and 90 was in error and has been withdrawn as the rejection is seen to apply equally thereto. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are not seen as persuasive. Applicant and examiner are at issue over the applicability of the teaching of Sarrett et al. The reference teaches the utility of the reaction with steroids in general, with only 16 and 17 position substituents affecting the reaction. The reference further teaches that such a modification produces compounds with high activities. Applicant has failed to show why such a reaction and its activity enhancement of its products would not be expected to work for the broadly claimed compounds at hand.

Claims 46-51 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
